News for the Learned.

IN the Daily Courant of the 9th of December last, Notice having been taken that Cardinal Polignac caused a Place to be dug up near that where Livia's Columbarium was found, we hope it will not be unacceptable to our learned Readers to have a farther Account of that curious Discovery.

R O M E.

Cardinal Polignac having caused those Places that were next to the Columbarium of Livia's freed Men to be dug up, had found an Inscription; and Cardinal Alexander Albani had likewise found another at Monte Mole, wherein Phraates and Abgarus are mentioned; these are certainly very great Names, but the Construction has seem'd so defective, that hitherto none has dared to undertake to unravel it; however, we are promis'd it soon: In the Interim, the Curious and Antiquaries will, we hope, be very well pleas'd with that of Cardinal Polignac, and some Notes upon it by an Italian Virtuoso, both which follow, such as they came from Italy.

The Notes.

* Segisamo was a City in Hispania Tarracoenfis, near Segisama Julia. Pliny speaks of both, lib. iii. Sect. 4. 'tis according to Mariana very near the same Country as what is now call'd Guipuscoa, See Book iii. ch. 25. of his History. The Phoebus mentioned here was surnam'd Tormogus; and it is very likely it was given him on Account of the Place of his Birth:

* And if this Conjecture be true, it will serve to make a small Correction in Pliny, and Ptolemy. Pliny calls Turmodigi the People who inhabited the Cities Segisamo, and Segisama Julia. Ptolemy calls it Movigazoi, as F. Harduin has remark'd it, and at the same Time confesses he never heard of Turmodigi. It may be that Pliny wrote Turmogi, and Ptolemy Tiguzoi.

* All the Roman Fasti, or Annals, place the two Consuls in the sixth Year of Antoninus Pius, in the Year of Rome 896, and in the 143 of the Christian Era. Some Remarks may be made on what Cardinal Norris has written concerning these. They were Consuls in the Months of January and February, after which they made Room for two other substituted Consuls, whose Names are unknown. So that Phoebus, born on the 17th Day of February, came into the World during their Consulship, but died, the 2d Day of August, under the Consulship of others, whose Names are not in the Fasti, because these last were some of those who were call'd substituted, Suffecti. Those tender Expressions, Filio Karissimo, Filio Dulcissimo, give Room to believe this Phoebus died young, and perhaps a Child; perhaps did he live no longer than till he was five Months and two Days old. Nothing in this Inscription can help one to guess any Number of Years.

London, January 9.

On Tuesday arrived two Mails from Flanders.

Leghorn, Dec. 14. The Corsairs of Algiers have taken a Hambourg Merchant Ship coming from Cadiz, where she had taken more than 600 Barrils of Oyl on board of her. We have had here a most dreadful Tempest for three Days together, which has stranded most of the Ships on our Coasts, and Shipwreck'd others. The Tripolin Corsairs have taken the Jafon, and Captain Marrinec's Ship from the French.

Trieste, Dec. 15. They incessantly work about building Ships in this Port, for which purpose the Imperial Court has sent here very considerable Sums. We hear from Buccari, that they had imprisoned a Man there, who being zealously affected for the Good of his Country, and, though 66 Years of Age, has done his best Endeavours to propogate Mankind, and got 14 Children in one Year's Time, on several Women he was acquainted with. He has been confined, in order, 'tis said, to his being sent to people some American Plantations.

Dantzick;

Dantzick, Dec. 20. Count Maurice of Saxony is come incognito to this City, and has had several private Conferences with some Lords of Courland lately arrived from thence.

Vienna, Dec. 27. 'Tis assured M. Hamel Bruininx, Minister of the States General, is charged on their Part with a Negotiation of the highest Importance. The Aulick Council has given a final Decree in favour of the Countess of Rantzau, concerning her Pretensions stated against the Countess of Castilli her Relation. This Tribunal has also sent a Rescript to the King of Prussia, charging his Majesty, as Director of the Circle of the Lower Saxony, to cause it to be put in Execution.

Hambourg, Jan. 4. An Officer arrived here Yesterday from the Court of Hesse-Cassel, going to Copenhagen, to execute a Commission there on the Part of the Landgrave his Master, and from thence go to Stockholm. We hear from Mecklenbourg, that a new Mandate of Duke Charles Leopold, dated from Dantzick the 12th of December last, had been posted up in several Places, exhorting his Subjects to oppose with all their Might, the future Administration of Duke Christian Lewis his Brother, whom he calls a Rebel. This Mandate, which is couched in very harsh Terms, has been torn down every where; and 'tis said Duke Christian is to answer it in a Manifesto. By Letters from Hanover we hear, that they had received from London a List of the Servants and Equipage of Prince Frederick, which are to go over thither; and that though all the Regiments in that Electorate be compleat, the Generals have notwithstanding received Orders to go on with raising Men. From Stockholm we hear, that M. Antiphere, Secretary to the Count de Freytag, had stayed there to take Care of the Affairs of Vienna, till a new Minister arrives there from the Imperial Court; that Count Horn and some other Senators were gone in the Country for the Holydays; and that Count Gallowin, the Russian Minister's Departure was no more spoken of. From Munster we hear, that Baron Dockum, Major-General in the King of Prussia's Service, arrived there before the Departure of the Elector of Cologne for Bonn, and had the Honour to compliment his Electoral Highness on the Part of his Prussian Majesty, upon his Election to the Bishoprick of Osnabrug. M. Bottiger, the Prussian Minister in the Circle of Lower Saxony, and who resides in this City, has received Orders from his Court to put on deep Mourning for the Death of the Great Princess Nathalia, Sister to the Emperor his Master. We are informed, that a certain Power hath taken the Dutchy of Mecklenbourg under his Protection. We hear from Kiel, that the Duke of Holstein Gottorp thinks of going the 6th of this Month to Eutin, to his Cousin German the Bishop of Lubeck, where he will remain till the approaching Fair of Kiel be over. The Departure of Baron Solenthal, Envoy of the King of Denmark to the Court of Great Britain, has been retarded upon Account of very important Affairs. The Stadick of this City, some Days ago, gave that Minister a very splendid Entertainment, to which about 25 foreign Ministers were invited.
